

Laurie Lace: When Will I Ever Learn

Private release on FansNBands

Texas singer-songwriter Laurie Lace releases "When Will I Ever Learn" from her new CD "Wild Mustang", produced by Curt Ryle.

Laurie Lace <http://www.laurielace.com/> was born and raised around Dallas, Texas, and she started singing and writing at the age of 12. The signs were there right away. She received awards in high school for poetry, but she stopped singing after high school, getting her work legs going as a Deputy Sheriff. 4 years years ago she picked it up again, and the world is a better place because of it, as is obvious from her first 2 albums. The first, "Girl in A Bar", was produced by Curt Ryle out of Nashville, TN, and it was picked up by the Tate Music Group, who signed her to a label deal. "Girl in A Bar" got rotation in the U.S., Sweden, Finland, and Australia.

Now Laurie has gone Indie, releasing new music on her own, and she's #1 in Texas, #2 in the U.S., and #3 Global on the ReverbNation charts, and getting 250,000 hits a month on her site.

"I am expecting better things for the new CD "Wild Mustang". I went back to Curt for this album as an Indie, and he gave me the freedom to get closer to my roots, to explore the hearts of my songs. Curt didn't try to tie me down to any style. My style is just me, and Curt let me relax and go there. I've been called Renegade, Outlaw, Texas, Mainstream, and Red Dirt Country, but I don't worry about all that, I just sing from the heart and let the chips fall."

Laurie Lace has never been afraid of a taking a chance. She feels just at home riding her Harley or shooting guns as she does in the recording studio.

Inspired by Sheryl Crow, Lucinda Williams, and Miranda Lambert, singer/songwriter Laurie Lace combines country and blues, bringing out a unique sound all her own. Lace's new CD, "Wild Mustang", relates to every woman who's ever loved, lost, and gotten even! Find Laurie at <http://www.laurielace.com/>

"Wild Mustang" was recorded in April of 2012 in Nashville. Curt Ryle produced with Nashville studio musicians.

"When Will I Ever Learn"

He was man of his word. He knew more than I did.
I should've known it wouldnt last.
It was too good to fast. Cowboys don't love
Hey always leave dust riding off in the Sun set.
When will I ever learn? when will I ever change?
Quit chasing these tumbleweeds out on the range.
They just keep rolling with nowhere to end, to never return.
When will I ever learn.
You said you're one of the good ones
And God don't make too many.
So I just fell like I always fall,
That was it, and that was all .
The good times turn bad and happy turn sad.
I guess I knew that you would leave all along.
When will I ever learn? When will I ever change?
Quick chasing these tumbleweeds out on the range.
They just keep rollin
With no way to end and never return,
When will I ever learn?
When I feel the wind, I think of him
And if he came back I'd do it all again.
When will I ever learn, when will i ever change?
Quit chasing these tumbleweeds out on the range.
It just keeps rolling with nowhere to end.
To never return, oh they never return..
When will I ever learn?
